Haverly's Minstrels,
The coming of Haverly's Mastodon Minstrels is announced for the Academy formorrow afternoon and night, and it is a reasonable assumption that the impression made by this organization in the past, is certain to have its effect.

Billy Van, the ripid fire artillery of minstreldom, is this season the star commeldan of this famous organization, and included among the assisting comedians will be that eccentric shouter of South, for commeldies, Mr. Eddie Horan, also Conda all of the interested persons in Scoopjuland, which is ruled by a Queen of surpassing loveliness, who announces that she will marry none but an old inan of experience. When Dodo I and his entourage are taken before her as prisoners, she sees in him the man she has been waiting for, and, as she pleases Dodo's fancy, the wooling speeds right merryly until a conspiracy is hatched and Dodo is given a drink from a spring which is indeed a veritable fountain of youth. Presto, the old King is transformed into a boy. This pleases Dodo but the Queen will have none of him. Again the conspirators come to the resoue, for with the idea of drowning the favorite they throw blm in the same spring and by its marvelous powers he in again transformed into the deciepit old Monarch he was when the Queen of the Spooplu people lost her heart to him. Dodo is of a forgiving disposition and when he finds that the Queen will be his he gives overyone his blessing, and his kingdom to Piolo and Angela, telling the corner to "go into the "King business on his own account." Thus all of the complications happly are adjusted.

Richard Golden is at his bost as the finds all of the interested persons in the mat to propare himself for his big lieutenant and other officers and cavalry-

The scenic and electric embellishments have been beautified and the company enlarged. This cast this season is unquestionably the best this merry fantasy has ever had; it numbers seventy-five players and comprises: Gus Weinberg, Gilbert Gregory, Abbott Adams, George McKay, George Romain, Alma Youlin, Countess Von Hatzfeldt, Ada Deayes, Dorothy Choate, Myra Dayls, and others of equal prominence, including that much heralded choral array, popularly known as "A Rosebud Garden of Grits."

"Sapho."

"Sapho."

The Kirby Stock Company will present "Sapho" at the Academy Friday, matines and night. This will be the first presentation of the play in this city. The company is headed by Miss Edith Warner and Frederic Sumner, two leading players who have excellent reputations throughout the country. Miss Warner is an attractive young actress of superb figure who promises to make an excellent impress on here.

Mr. Sumner is a striking young actor of fine physique, a faultless dresser and a man of wide experience in stock work.
